

ABSTRACT

A method of treating specific forms of cancer with water-insoluble 20(S)-camptothecin compounds with the closed-lactone ring intact and/or derivatives thereof is disclosed. The method includes administering the compounds intramuscularly, orally and transdermally.